

Those black streaks aren't dirt. They're eating your roof.

The streaks are Gloeocapsa magma — a living cyanobacteria that feeds on the limestone filler in asphalt shingles. Left alone, it degrades shingles, invites moss and lichen, traps heat, and shaves years off the most expensive surface on your home.

Doing nothing costs ~$720 every year

Add $100–$250/yr in extra summer cooling — stained shingles absorb heat instead of reflecting it. Regular soft washing protects $10,000–$13,000 in deferred replacement value, for a fraction of the cost of one year of damage.

/ WHY SOFT WASH?

- ✓ Kills the organism. Low-pressure application of professional cleaning solutions eliminates algae at the source — not just the stain.
- ✓ Pressure washing makes it worse. High pressure strips protective granules, scars shingles, and can void your manufacturer's warranty.
- ✓ Drone application. Nobody walks on your shingles. Precise, even coverage on steep and complex rooflines.
- ✓ Curb appeal & resale. Buyers read streaked roofs as "needs replacing" — and negotiate accordingly.

1

Free assessment

We inspect and photograph your roof by drone — no ladders, no walking on shingles — and give you a firm price.

2

Drone soft wash

Low-pressure treatment kills the algae colony and rinses the streaks away, safely and evenly, usually in one visit.

3

Stay protected

A cleaning every 2–3 years keeps the organism from re-establishing and your shingles on their full 25-year track.
